

552. To what purpose are faucets designed?

- (a) Access to other fixtures
- (b) Set up fast installation
- (c) Provide for easy replacement and maintenance of parts
- (d) Control the flow of water

553. What should be done whenever a partition contains some piping and runs parallel to the floor joist underneath?
- (a) Notching should be introduced into the joist
  - (b) Adjust the joist to make it perpendicular with the direction of pipe
  - (c) Space the joist wider to accommodate the pipe
  - (d) Double the joist

