

522. A piping system is designed to control and convey excess ground water to a suitable location.

(a) Stormwater drainage piping

(b) Sewer piping

(c) Vertical stack

(d) Downspout

523. A piece of metal fitted under another piece of that metal or wood over which water is expected to run is called

(a) Gutter

(c) Flashing

(b) Sheeting

(d) Roofing

