

28. Which of the following statements is NOT true in water heaters?
- (a) The discharge pipe from a relief valve must be trapped.
 - (b) When water heaters are installed in locations where leakage of the tank or connections will cause damage, the water heater must be installed in a pan.
 - (c) All water heaters must be provided with an approved, self-closing (levered) pressure relief valve and a temperature relief valve, or a combination thereof.
 - (d) Water heaters must be protected to prevent siphoning off its contents.

28. Which of the following statements is NOT true in water heaters?

- (a) The discharge pipe from a relief valve must be trapped.
- (b) When water heaters are installed in locations where leakage of the tank or connections will cause damage, the water heater must be installed in a pan.
- (c) All water heaters must be provided with an approved, self-closing (levered) pressure relief valve and a temperature relief valve, or a combination thereof.
- (d) Water heaters must be protected to prevent siphoning off its contents.

