

521. In plumbing, the unobstructed vertical distance through the free atmosphere, between the faucet supplying water and the flood-level rim of a fixture is called _____

(a) Air gap

(c) Flushing lane

(b) Airline

(d) Gooseneck

522. A piping system is designed to control and convey excess ground water to a suitable location.

- (a) Stormwater drainage piping
- (b) Sewer piping
- (c) Vertical stack
- (d) Downspout

