113. If one vertical point projects above a roof so as to permit storm water to drain to adjacent roof area below, the total roof area considered is computed by.

(a) Adding 50% of area of the wall to the roof area
(b) Adding 35% of the total wall area to the roof area
(c) Add 100% of area of the wall to the roof area
(d) Add no additional area to the roof area

113. If one vertical point projects above a roof so as to permit storm water to drain to adjacent roof area below, the total roof area considered is computed by.

(a) Adding 50% of area of the wall to the roof area

(b) Adding 35% of the total wall area to the roof area

(c) Add 100% of area of the wall to the roof area

(d) Add no additional area to the roof area